

Proctoring

We agree to allow students to take exams at the Library subject to the following restrictions:

- This service is for Stamford residents only
- Before the student enters the exam room, the librarian on duty will read all the instructions provided by the university.
- Under NO circumstances will the librarian(s) be responsible for physically monitoring or proctoring the exam, nor will they provide any materials or other information services.
- All students taking exams are strictly on the honor system. We provide only the space, and a signature to verify that the exam has been taken on the premises.
