Welcome

On behalf of the Ferguson Library Board of Trustees, Citizen Advisors, Foundation Board and staff, I am delighted to welcome you to A Novel Affair, a very special evening to benefit the Ferguson Library. This year, we are delighted to honor Eileen H. Rosner for her tireless service to the library and the Stamford community. Eileen is one of those people who rolls up her sleeves and gets the job done. She has volunteered with the Friends of Ferguson Library for more than two decades and we are lucky to have her.

The Ferguson Library is the heart of our community. It is the only place that is free and open to all, and offers so many resources for connection, growth and learning. A Novel Affair is our major fundraiser, and the dollars we raise go to support vital programs and services, such as career skills workshops, English language learning, children's early literacy programs and cultural events and author programs that bring our community together.

Your support also helps us buy books in all formats for children, teens and adults. Now more than ever, with book bans on the rise in our country, libraries must stand up for the freedom to read. We must and we will maintain our diverse collections and welcome everyone into our space, no matter who they are or where they are from. Libraries have always been dedicated to freedom of information and serving the most vulnerable, and that will not change.

Thank you for recognizing the value of your public library and for joining us tonight to congratulate our friend, Eileen H. Rosner.

The Ferguson Award

The Ferguson Library Salutes Eileen H. Rosner

Eileen H. Rosner has been a Stamford resident since she was 5 years old. After attending Stamford Public Schools and graduating from UConn, she returned to teach and spent 38 years educating Stamford school children at Stevens, Riverbank and Roxbury elementary schools. During that period, she served on the parent teacher organizations of all three schools and on the committee that completed the desegregation of Stamford Public Schools.

Aviva Maller Photography

For as long as she can remember, Eileen has volunteered at libraries. She created the library at Temple Beth El when it moved to Roxbury Road and helped run the Jewish Historical Society Library at the Jewish Community Center. She became involved with the Ferguson Library after retirement, volunteering in the Friends Book Shop and subsequently running the annual Stamford Literary Competition, now in its 40th year. She is now completing 20 years as chair of the competition. She has served on the Friends' board for most of the past 19 years, holding the offices of secretary, vice-president and president.

In addition to the library, Eileen serves on the board of the Stamford History Center, and chaired its annual Victorian Tea from 2005 to 2020. She is a past president of Temple Beth El and the Sisterhood of Temple Beth El. She has also served as an officer of the PT Council and the Jewish Historical Society of Fairfield County, and served on the board of Stamford Theatre Works. She was the education advisor for the Ballet School of Stamford and served as auction chair for its Chefs on Point fundraisers. She has been honored by the Israel Cancer Research Fund; the United Jewish Federation of Greater Stamford, New Canaan and Darien; Temple Beth El; the Friends of Ferguson Library and the Ballet School of Stamford.

In her spare time, Eileen enjoys reading, dancing and playing her great grandfather's violin.

The members of the Friends of Ferguson Library are thrilled that Eileen H. Rosner is being recognized for this prestigious honor.

It is no surprise to us that she was chosen. Eileen has positively impacted the lives of many Stamford students through her work as a teacher for nearly four decades. Her dedication to the community spills over to a myriad of other areas. During the past 19 years, she has run the Friends' Annual Literary Competition, an event that inspires many young writers.

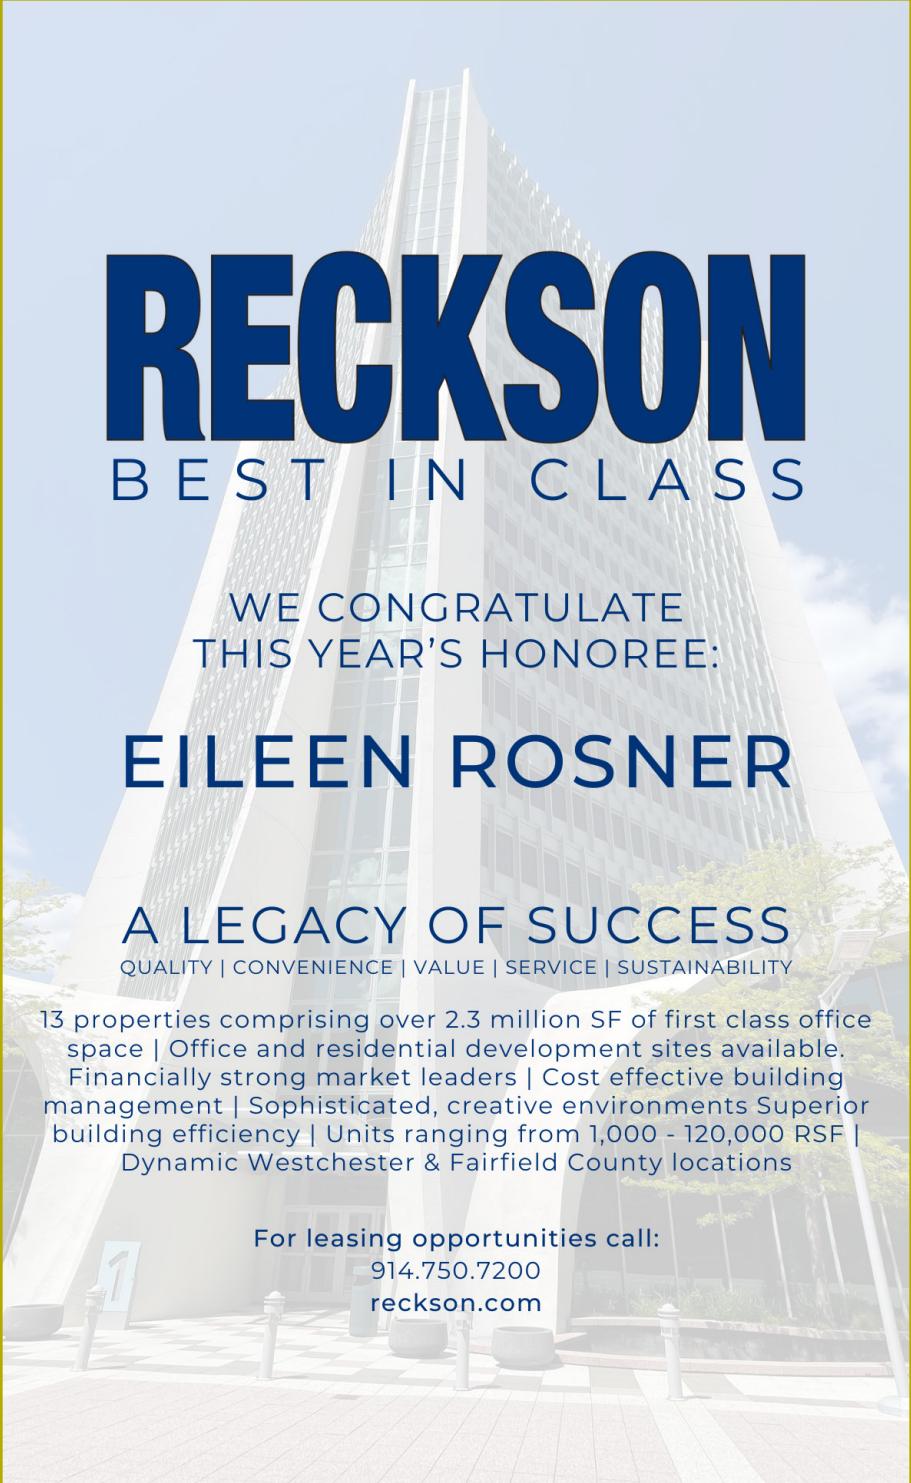

Additionally, Eileen has held leadership positions on the Friends board, including president and secretary, and is always the first to volunteer for a pressing need, no matter the task. She is fully committed to making sure the Ferguson Library and the Friends help make lasting contributions to our community. We are thankful for all she does.

A heartfelt congratulations, Eileen!
